Introduction

Junior Showmanship refers to the activity of Breed Handling competitions for Juniors in New Zealand.

This manual is a guide for Junior Handlers and Junior Showmanship Judges. It includes the regulations covering the Junior Showmanship Judging qualification process, Dogs New Zealand (Dogs NZ) Junior Dog Handler competition and the two Junior Dog Showing (JDS) Breed Handling competitions. It is anticipated that the regulations pertaining to judging of JDS heats will be reviewed prior to 2015 with a view to including all JDS age groups if there are sufficient judges on the Junior Showmanship judging panel.

We wish to gratefully acknowledge the support of Australian National Kennel Council and Dogs New South Wales for allowing us the use of illustrations and some of the material contained in this manual.

Part One: Guide for Junior Handlers

Sportsmanship in Junior Handlers

Friendships in Junior Showmanship Competitions can be established in many different ways. They can result from a simple talk at the side of the ring, or while waiting in the ring during a large class. Once you become friends with your fellow exhibitors, you will find that most of them have feelings and goals very similar to your own.

As these friendships develop, you may be able to assist one another in improving your skills. By helping one another, you establish a team effort that can greatly enhance your enjoyment of the sport. If it is not your day to win, you can take pleasure in the wins of your friends. When you are successful, they can take pleasure in yours.

Friendship can help bring the most important purpose of Junior Showmanship Competition back into focus – winning does not have to be the most important objective. This is a much healthier outlook.

Advice for Junior Handlers

- Read the regulations contained in this manual. There are specific requirements regarding dogs ages/bitches in season etc. It is your responsibility to make sure your dog is eligible to compete with you. If you are unsure, contact one of the JDS Committee members or the JDH Coordinator.
- Juniors must not take bitches in season into any Junior Showmanship competition.
- Be clean and suitably dressed for the show ring. Avoid clothing and accessories that will detract from your dog and your handling abilities. Footwear should be suitable for moving around the ring. NO thongs or scuff type footwear allowed.
- Never place yourself between your dog and the Judge.
- Have a lead that is suitable and not too long as it will encourage you to fiddle with the lead.
- Make sure the lead is not too short to enable you to step around your dog comfortably without stepping over the back of your dog, as this will be penalised.
- Keep the lead coiled in your left hand. Never dangle or drop any part of it.
- Choose a dog carefully; make sure it is one that you feel comfortable with.
- The judge will place a lot of emphasis on your ability to bond and work with the dog you are handling. It is important that you can demonstrate this in the way you interact with the dog.
- Exhibitor number to be on your left-hand side where it can be clearly seen. Only wear one card.
- Get to know about the breed of dog you are showing. E.g. what breed it is? How old is the dog you are handling?
- Listen to the Judge's instructions carefully. If unsure of the instruction, politely ask the Judge to repeat it.
- Learn how to show a dog's bite, both front and side views of the mouth. If you are handling a breed that does not have their bites examined, e.g. Pekingese, you may politely advise the judge that "this breed does not have its bite examined."
- When returning to the Judge set up or free stand your dog as requested.

- Be sure not to set your dog up too early, as your dog may become unsettled. The best time to set your dog up for final placing is when the last dog is moving around the ring.
- When returning to your position, do not obstruct the view of other handlers from the judge. If necessary, walk behind the other handlers. If the Judge requests you to return to the line at the rear of the other handlers and dogs, take care not to crowd or upset the other dogs.
- If using food in the ring, make sure that the food does not interfere with any other dog or handler. Always pick up any food that you may drop.
- Handlers should be penalised for not picking up bait.

Entering the Ring

- Look before entering the ring to see where the Judge is standing.
- Listen to either the steward or the Judge as to where they want you to go.
- Make sure not to crowd the handler in front, leave plenty of space between each handler and dog and enough room for the Judge to walk between.
- Always keep an eye on the Judge, so you never walk between your dog and the Judge
- Have your dog on show at all times unless instructed to relax your dog.
- Move towards the rear of the dog as the Judge comes to its front by giving a command, if need be, to steady your dog. Move towards the front of the dog's head as the Judge approaches the rear end again give a command to steady the dog if need be.
- When walking towards the rear of your dog, never step over the dog's back. Progress slowly step by step and, if need be, give the dog a command to stand steady.
- As the last dog moves around have your dog set up for the Judge to view. Do not, however, move from your position unless instructed to by the judge.

Setting Dogs Up Head to Tail

Diagram 1: Setting Dogs Up

Setting Up a Dog

You are required to set up any breed of dog in exactly the same manner as in the show ring. Which means in a Heat Class Line up Junior Handlers should always set up their dogs Head to Tail at ALL times. This should be done as quickly and efficiently as possible.

Sometimes there are only a few seconds before the Judge will be ready to look at your dog.

During a line-up you should present your dog in one of the following ways, depending on the breed. The front and rear feet should be set up in according to the breed being shown.

Tabled Dogs

Place the dog safely towards the front end of the table as shown in the diagram below. Be careful that the dog is not placed too close to the edge to avoid falling and causing serious injury.

Do not place your lead around your neck. You must have full control of your dog at all times and keep the lead coiled in your hand.

Note: The lead is held in the hand for your safety and the security of the dog.

Diagram 9: Stance

Showing Dog's Bite, All Views

Place a hand underneath the dog's chin to steady the dog's head.

Lift the dog's lip to show the bite with the teeth together and never use force, as this will upset the dog. Also move your hand around to lift the dog's lip to show both side views of teeth.

Breeds such as Pekingese do not have their bites examined and Junior Handlers should politely advise the judge that the breed does not have its bite examined.

Note: Be sure that all views of the bite are gently presented to the Judge.

Ring Exercises

This section details the exercises required in the National JDH Competition and the JDS Breed Handling competition, specifically the Out & Back, Triangle and Around the Ring. "Ls" and "Ts" are exercises which are specific to the JDS Team Handling competition and fun stakes classes only, and are included in the specific regulations on page 23 of this manual.

OUT & BACK

Aim of Exercise

This is used to enable the Judge to see the dog's rear movement when going away and to see the front movement when coming back.

Observe the starting point of the Judge before commencing to enable you to come back straight to the Judge's position.

Position your dog in front of the Judge, line an object up in front so you are moving in a straight line.

The dog must be moved along the Judge's line of vision and returned with a left about turn along the same line.

Never place yourself between the Judge and your Dog. Go out from point (A) to point (B), and then return on same line from point (B) to point (A) stopping approx 2 metres (6ft) away from the Judge and presenting dog as per Judge's instructions.

Note: Unless necessary to reassure the dog you should not touch the dog's head on the corner of the exercise.

Do not over use your lead, keep it coiled up in your left hand. DO NOT have any part of the lead dangling.

THE TRIANGLE

Aim of Exercise

This is used to enable the Judge to see the rear, side and front views of the dog.

Observe the starting point of the Judge before you commence. The Judge should not find it necessary to move position to obtain the correct view of the dog. The triangle should not be so wide as to be outside the Judge's line of vision, nor too narrow because the side view would be short. Aim for an equilateral triangle (all three sides' similar length).

Never place yourself between the Judge and your dog.

Position your dog in front of the Judge. Go from point (A) to point (B) and then from (B) to (C). This should cross the Judge's line of vision. Bring dog back from (C) to (A) stopping approx 2 metres (6ft) away from the Judge and present dog as per Judge's instructions. (Line your objects up before leaving so you can go to each point to form a triangle before starting.)

Note: Unless necessary to reassure the dog you should not touch the dog's head on the corner of the exercise.

Do not over use your lead, keep it coiled up in your left hand. DO NOT have any part of the lead dangling.

AROUND THE RING

Around the Ring and Come Back to Me

This pattern is to see the handler's control of the dog and the ring craft of the handler. The handler should use the whole ring unless instructed by the Judge.

Always keep the dog moving at a correct pace according to the size and breed of dog.

The handler is required to leave from the judge and go around then return to the judge stopping approximately 2 metres (6 feet) from the Judge and present the dog as per the judge's instructions.

Around the Ring – More than One Handler

This pattern is to see the handler's control of the dog and the ring craft of the handlers. Handlers should use the whole ring unless instructed by the Judge.

Always keep the dog moving at a correct pace according to the size and breed of dog.

Present the dogs as per Judge's instructions.

Part Three: Guide for Judges

General

(Also refer to the additional Guidelines for the National JDH Competition)

- Never judge the dog, always judge the handling.
- Always make sure there is a suitable table available for table dogs.
- Judges should give clear and concise instructions. Be specific, never try to confuse or trick the handlers.
- Judges should familiarise themselves with the Ring Exercises and the Regulations in this manual.
- You can request that the handler shows the dog's bite, both front and side views, if desired. However, some breeds such as Pekingeses, do not have their bites examined and the Junior Handler may politely advise the judge that this breed of dog does not have its bite examined.
- Never assume that because a dog is moving well or stands like a statue, it is being well handled.
- You should place great emphasis on the handler's ability to bond and work with the dog they are handling.
- Make sure you are aware of the different ring exercises. They are Out & Back, Triangle, Around the Ring and Present your dog, (all of which are illustrated in Part Two of this manual). "Ls" "Ts" etc, should not be requested of the handler in the National JDH or JDS Breed Handling competitions and should be limited to JDS Team Handling competition or fun stakes classes only.
- A score sheet is provided for Judges who are judging a JDH competition. This is optional if you are judging a JDS competition.
- What breed of dog is it? How old is the dog?
- Look for smooth handling and kind hands.
- Ask Look for enjoyment whilst participating.
- When asking for a particular exercise, you should also ask the handler to either come back and free stand or set up their dog.

Handlers should be penalised for:

- Getting in between the Judge and their dog.
- Not following Judge's instructions.
- Not clearly exhibiting their number.
- Dangling any part of their lead, or dropping the lead.
- Not knowing the breed of dog being shown.
- Rough handling of the dog.
- Having lead too tight, making it uncomfortable for the dog.
- Moving the dog incorrectly for the breed being handled.
- Not standing the dog the correct way for that breed.

- Not tabling a dog which is usually tabled.
- Lack of control of the dog at all times.
- Stepping over the dogs back.
- Not picking up bait.
- Handler not communicating or interacting with their dog.

Guidelines for Judging National JDH Competition

These guidelines are to assist judges and identify the judging process. The aim is to arrive at a uniform judging system and create a 'level playing field' for all candidates.

1. Uniformity of Judging

- 1.1 All candidates must be treated in the same manner.
- 1.2 There should be no change in the method of judging other than, that which is dictated by the need to accommodate different breeds.
- 1.3 Care should be taken with the time span of the second dog being allocated to the candidate. No handler should be given the advantage of having a considerably longer time to familiarise themselves with their second dog
- 1.4 It is advisable to always stand on the same spot when asking the candidates to make their moves. This will of course mean a shift for the circle, what should be aimed at is total equality for each candidate.

2. Allocation of Breeds

- 2.1 When breeds are being allocated to candidates for their second part of the handling section, care should be taken to try and give them a breed that they are not regularly handling.
- 2.2 Attention should be paid to try and see that the candidates 2nd dog is very different from their first choice.
- 2.3 Great attention should be paid to how the candidate handles their 2nd dog. It is in this area where the real capabilities of a handler should be tested.
- 2.4 It is the judges' responsibility to select the alternate dog for all handlers.

3. Dress of Handler

- 3.1 The dress should be tidy and suitable; it should compliment the handler and the dog. This applies to the 1st choice dog only.
- 3.2 NO points should be deducted or any attention taken if the dress does not compliment the 2nd dog, after all the handler had no way of knowing what dog he/she was going to be allocated.

4. Marking

- 4.1 It is advisable to mark the first candidates quite hard, this allows you to continue in the same vein throughout. To commence marking lightly may mean that a judge finds an outstanding candidate at the end and has no room to manoeuvre.
- 4.2 It must be remembered that the final mark has no bearing on future heats or the final.

5. Interview

- 5.1 It should be remembered that there is no interview at the International Final.
- 5.2 The purpose of holding one in the heats and National Final are to ensure that our representative can speak articulately to reporters and the media in England.
- 5.3 While the interview is a guide also to the candidates' depth of knowledge it is not the be all and end all.

6. General

- 6.1 Do not enter into any discussion with a candidate during judging.
- 6.2 Do not allow any other person (except the chaperone who shall take no part in the proceedings, but must remain present at all times) to be present during the interview. The only exception could be in the case of a candidate being either a mute or deaf mute, here obviously assistance would be required.
- 6.3 With the exception of the National final, there is no set timetable other than having the candidates 1st choice of dog judged first. If you wish to hold the interviews first, last or between the sets of dogs then the choice is yours, this gives you the chance to fit in with conditions on the day.
- 6.4 Remember that the ultimate goal is to find the best overall handler; excellence in one aspect is not enough. Handling ability must be paramount but tempered with the other facets.
- 6.5 To penalise or disadvantage a candidate for their physical appearance is not acceptable.
